Product Design Intern Design Assignment

A take-home exercise for shortlisted candidates

At KoiKoi, we help people express their feelings through personalized, interactive digital gifts. This assignment is a chance to show us how you think, design, and build. Have fun with it.

THE CHALLENGE

Identify something people want to express, and create a completely new KoiKoi card experience around it. Explore our existing cards to understand the product, but don't recreate an existing card or simply change its theme.

What we're evaluating

User empathy | Creativity | Design taste | Storytelling | Attention to detail

The assignment

1 Understand the user

Start with people, not Figma. Tell us:

- Who is your card for?
- What are they trying to express?
- What user insight inspired your idea?
- Why would someone send this instead of a regular message?

2 Create your card experience

Design an original, mobile-first card that makes expressing something feel personal, fun, or meaningful. Think about the complete receiver experience:

- Storytelling - how it begins, unfolds, and ends
- Copywriting - messages, instructions, and reveals that feel natural and engaging
- Visual design - typography, colors, illustrations, and layouts that feel intentional
- Interactions - animations, games, and surprises
- Personalization - how the sender makes it special for the receiver

Every detail matters.

3 Use AI to build it

AI usage is expected. Use it to brainstorm, design, generate assets, write copy, or build an interactive prototype. We want to see how you use AI thoughtfully - how you critique its output and refine rather than accept the first result.

4 Test and improve

Show your experience to at least one potential user. Observe their reaction, identify what to improve, and refine. Briefly share what you learned and what you changed.

What to submit

1. A working prototype - a shareable, mobile-first experience we can open and interact with (a web prototype or an interactive Figma prototype).
2. A short description covering:
   - The user insight and opportunity
   - Your card concept and why you chose it
   - The experience flow, copy, and design decisions
   - The AI tools you used and your key iterations
   - User feedback and the improvements you made

Timeline

You have 2–3 days from receiving this assignment.
